DiscussIT Topic 6: Where is our country headed?

Discuss IT Topic: Over the last week, our country has had growing concerns on immigration bans, border safety, and executive orders that remind us of issues that have been plaguing our country for years. Now that Trump has been elected President, there has been people threatening to blow up the White House, human right protests, and a plethora of other sensitive subject matters that are very compelling to individual groups of people. Why have these issues come up now as we head into a time in which it seems no one is going to be happy with the outcomes? Will this create a split in this country and place citizens against one another when it comes to their views? In your opinion, what other topics are at the forefront of concern? Explain...

Response: Please make sure all grammar, spelling, indentation, and punctuation is correct.

This has been happening for a while now. I saw that Mr. Trump has 42 lawsuits with his name on it relating to the immigration ban. This country is in a crisis right now with people everywhere rioting and protesting. This same thing would've happened even if Hillary Clinton came to office. I believe the country will come to a split maybe even if it gets to a worse point, a civil war. Half of the country is with Trump and the half is against him. It seems its maybe because he's the first president to so what he said he was going to do during his campaign. People that did not vote are mad because he became president, how stupid is that. The future does not look too bright as far as I see it. But let's see what goes down, because one thing I know is that this will turn out to be something for the ages.
